

The EnduraPost Square Picket is a superior, environmentally sustainable alternative to wooden or steel pickets. Made in Australia by an award-winning Australian owned company Plastic Forests, this 38x38mm square picket has an enormous number of benefits.

Recycled from our own waste

Made from 100% post-consumer recycled HDPP plastic such as 1 tonne fertilizer bags, or animal feed bags rescued from landfill-destined waste, these pickets are the perfect solution to creating a circular economy. They are also helping farmers with a fit-for-purpose product that will assist them to meet their sustainability obligations. Made from one of the strongest forms of plastic, and with a UV treatment tested to withstand at least 50 years, they will last in the hot Australian sun.

Fire retarded to withstand grass fires

Super-tough, the square picket won't rot, rust, or corrode, and termites won't eat them either. They won't catch airborne embers and have been treated and tested to withstand a fire up to 350°C, making them far superior to wood in the event of a burn-back grass fire situation where the temperature will usually reach 200-250°C.

Fully Insulated

Being made from recycled plastic, they are perfect to use for electric fencing as they are the insulator! No need to add anything else, and they pass the test in dry and wet conditions for leakage too. Electrify as many wires are you like without the expense and time of adding insulators.

cost-effective
electric fence.

NO MORE RUST!

If you are tired of re-doing fence lines because the steel simply rusts out after a few years, then the EnduraPost Square Picket is the solution. No matter what type of soil or land you manage, salty, acidic, alkaline, swampy, wet, dry, rocky, sandy, red, or black soil, you won't be disappointed in the square picket.

This old star picket is no longer keeping the fence up, rather the fence is keeping it up... for now, at least! The next problem with this picket is the damage it's causing to the wire.

Whether its 4 years or 54 years the EnduraPost square picket will never rust out, and it's better for the longevity of the wire, meaning it won't rust out the wire that often vibrates against it, protecting the galvanized coating on the wire for many more years to come.

Millions of steel pickets are used every year to replace rusted out steel pickets. Why try to solve a problem with another problem? Once you build a fence using EnduraPost Square Pickets, you may never need to rebuild it again. That's a solution to an ever frustrating and expensive problem.

Other uses besides fencing

One of the many applications for the EnduraPost Square Picket is tree stakes, either as an individual stake or secured to a tree-guard or mesh tree barrier. Perhaps the best part about using EnduraPost Square Pickets for tree planting, is removing the need to cut down a tree to plant another tree or using toxic chemicals to preserve the wood against rotting and termites.

They are perfect for ongoing re-use in commercial veggie farming as they won't rot or harbor soil-borne pathogens like wood, simple wash them down before re-using, perfect for tomato stakes!

Councils use them on the beaches

Many councils are starting to realise the massive cost benefits to EnduraPost Square Pickets by placing them on the beach heads as a barrier to protect our sand dunes.

Now that's smart thinking!
